

RADIANT FLOORS

A floor heating system from Radiant Floors will ensure a uniform distribution of heat in your home or office, and a comfortable warmth which is easy to control room by room. The Radiant Floors wide range of cables & heating mats are designed for both renovation and New Build applications.

Basic mat layout showing plain wall cuts

The above layout shows how a single mat can be cut at walls and then flipped around to run alongside itself to fill the area to be heated - never cut the heating element

The Radiant Floors RFM undertile heating mat range is available in two versions – 150w/m², and 200w/m² for conservatory floors and rooms with a higher heat loss
